The hand therapists at Sheltering Arms offer specialized outpatient therapy focused on the shoulder, elbow, wrist and hand. They have advanced training and a high level of competence with the intricate anatomy of these parts of the body.

Hand therapists minimize the impact of surgery or injury and helping patients regain the use of their hands as thoroughly and efficiently as possible.

If a patient has more comprehensive difficulty using their arms, hands and fingers for everyday tasks, they may benefit from the Sheltering Arms iREACH Recovery Center, which offers the most advanced technology in upper extremity therapy.
